Hedge Fund Solutions, LLC Launches The Official Activist Investing Blog™

Site Designed to be Definitive Source for Non-Biased Information about Shareholder Activism

Philadelphia, PA August 26, 2008 ... Hedge Fund Solutions LLC, a leading strategy consulting firm focused exclusively on advising companies and investors on complex issues involving shareholder activism, has launched a new blog that will act as the definitive source for activist investing information.

“The purpose of the site is to centralize important information for anyone interested in keeping up with activist-related issues,” said Damien Park, CEO of Hedge Fund Solutions, LLC.

The Official Activist Investing Blog™, which will be administered and moderated by Hedge Fund Solutions, can be viewed at <http://activistinvesting.blogspot.com>. The regularly updated blog is focused exclusively on shareholder activism issues and will feature contributions from experts within the activist investing community, including: journalists from leading business publications worldwide, activist investors, company managers and board of directors, legal advisors, academics, investment bankers, proxy solicitors, public relations specialists, and more...

Some of the important and useful information found on the blog will include:

- A comprehensive list of other top-tier specialists serving companies and investors (i.e. law firms, public relations companies, investor relations professionals, proxy solicitors, etc...);
- A frequently updated list of the Top 50+ activist investors and links to their summary of investments;
- Ongoing activist campaigns worth watching in the US, Europe and Asia;
- Investment theses submitted by activist investors;
- Matter-of-fact positions, value-enhancing strategic initiatives and counterarguments submitted by companies;
- Worldwide activist news and provocative commentary, with links to applicable court decisions, legal notes and other opinions;
- Position papers and thought pieces supporting and opposing the virtues of activist investing;
- Directory of upcoming seminars, conferences and webcasts on shareholder activism and value investing;
- Links to other websites highlighting activist investment information.

Hedge funds, mutual funds, pension funds, individual investors, companies, activist-oriented specialists and advisors, journalists and academics are all encouraged to contribute to the blog with their comments or by sending emails with their thoughts and ideas to blog@hedgerelations.com.
